FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET FLUCTUATED.
New York, Oct. 31.—Fluctuations in the stock market today were confusing, many of the same description frequently showing in opposite directions. Dealings were fairly large, but again subject to the maneuvers of professional traders. Money rates furnished an excuse for the market's unstable course. Call loans spread at 1 1/2 per cent, related to 1 per cent, at midday and suddenly hardened to 2 per cent, in the final hour. Developments over the week end offered little encouragement to the bull market. Railroad tonnage showed irregular increases and business gains at prominent centers were neutralized by further price reductions for important industries.
